

Dr. Jan H. Meinke

Jan H. Meinke is a staff scientist at the Jülich Supercomputing Centre of Forschungszentrum Jülich. He received his Ph.D. in Physics in 2002 from Michigan State University and has been working in Jülich since 2005. Jan is a member of the Simulation Laboratory Biology. His research interests include protein folding and how to make efficient use of HPC hardware for solving scientific problems. He has been teaching GPU programming since 2010.